

WHY YOU SHOULD PARTICIPATE

Your support is requested for the 2008 E. Marvin Slaughter and James A. Johnson Memorial Golf Tournament to be held at the Greenbrier Country Club in Chesapeake, Virginia on Monday, June 23. Join fellow Pirates as we raise funds for academic and athletic scholarship endowments at East Carolina University.

Additionally, you will help honor two of ECU's most prestigious graduates from Hampton Roads. Marvin Slaughter founded and served as president of Southern Tile Distributors, Inc. and was a key benefactor of the Taylor-Slaughter Alumni Center on the campus in Greenville before his death on August 13, 1987. Jim Johnson was a talented athlete and coach at East Carolina who helped establish the Pirate Club, became a great educator, and will always be remembered for his famous "12th man" tackle in the 1977 Oyster Bowl. He made a final appearance at this tournament in July 2004 before his death on November 27, 2004.

You can help one of the South's rising universities make quality education available to deserving young men and women by choosing from the sponsorship and player options found inside this brochure.
